LECTURER ASSERTS PLANS TO FINANCE SOLAR MAGNETICS CLUB'S REST ROOM CONTROLS ALL ARE OUTLINED

Cause of Growth, Unrest and More Work and Thought,
So Speaker Declares

The significance of solar magnetism upon even the most minute details of this everyday life, the effect of the present position of the planets in this solar system on growth and development during this year, and the cause for the unrest of the "New Age," were some of the theories expounded yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Emma J. Reid of Long Beach, speaker before the members of the Tuesday Afternoon club, whose topic was "Solar Magnetism and the New Age."

In describing the importance of solar magnetism, Mrs. Reid stated: "The study of solar magnetism will help you understand everything you see, whether it be a fight or music, and you will know the reason why. Just as simple as understanding the reason for the months and the different seasons is that of understanding the 'New Age.'"

The year as we term it is produced by the earth traveling around the sun. The solar system of which the earth is a part also travels around another distant sun, taking 26,000 of our years to make one complete circuit. One month of that great year of 26,000 would then be 2100 of our years. An age from a scientific standpoint is really one month of the next greater solar system than our own.

Consumes Some Time
"As there are thirty days to a month, one-thirtieth of an age, or a great month, would be seventy years. It will readily be seen that it takes this solar system seventy years to pass from one period to another in that great month. The difference in these great months is just as important as in our months. I believe that in 1881 we began to cross the line from one of those great periods to another and that is the cause of all the great upheaval and change at the present time."

"It is known that August is the electrical month. We are just en-

Business Women Meet in New Quarters; Banquet to Be January 24

The much needed and talked about restaurant for the business women of Glendale, where they may go to eat their lunches or to relax, has become a reality through the efforts of the members and officers of the Business and Professional Women's club of this city and the first meeting of that organization in the new rooms, which have been secured in the Coker & Taylor building on Brand boulevard between Harvard and Colorado streets, was held last night in the form of a "kitchen shower." Public opening of the rooms will be announced as soon as a hostess has been secured.

Last night's meeting was for the purpose of discussing and approving plans to finance this new project. Mrs. F. B. Walton, chairman of the restaurant committee, stated that the rent, also the salary of a hostess, who would be in charge of the rooms and would serve lunches at noon, would amount to $100 a month and that the necessary furnishings and dishes would be between $350 and $400.

Plans suggested for financing this, and which were adopted, were for the sale of privilege cards for twelve months at $2, sustaining cards for a year and with ten guest tickets for $5, and honorary cards for a year and twenty guest tickets for $10. Those not holding cards or guest tickets will be required to pay a guest fee of 10 cents for use of the rooms.

Dr. Laura Brown, chairman of the hospitality committee, announced the banquet to be given by the Glendale club January 24 at the Chamber of Commerce. This will be the first affair of this kind to be given by the organization and reservations must be made in advance either to Dr. Brown, Mrs. Beck of the System Dye Works at 100 West Broadway or Miss Neva Vesey of the Glendale Commercial school.

NEW OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED AMID IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Daughters of Veterans in Meeting Last Night Greet
Leaders for 1922

Very interesting and impressive was the installation of officers of Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, held last night at the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. Approximately seventy members, and their friends, including several comrades of the G. A. R.'s, were present. The hall, decorated in the holiday colors, in addition to the American Legion flags, made a very appropriate setting for the ceremonies.

The tent was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Cora Jones, the retiring president, who gave a short report on the activity of the tent, relative to relief work.

The installing officer, Mrs. Fannie Collins Medlar, was then introduced and assumed charge of the ceremonies. Mrs. Medlar, who is a member of Helen Jean Christie Tent of Los Angeles, was assisted by Mrs. Eva Gage, department patriotic instructor, member of Julia Ward Howe Tent of Fullerton; Mrs. Gatenfelder of Daylight Tent, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ada Thomas, color bearer; Mrs. Aleen Anderson, installing guide; of Helen Jean Christie Tent, Los Angeles. Mrs. Nancy Dean, mother of Mrs. Medlar, made the invocation.

Officers installed were: President, Mrs. Susie Peck; senior vice president, Mrs. Pearl Moore; junior vice president, Mrs. Irene Fuller; chaplain, Mrs. Dora Hall; treasurer, Miss Audrey Hall; council members, No. 1, Mrs. Cora Jones; No. 2, Mrs. Daphne Lyons; No. 3, Miss Annie Miller; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Agnes Richardson; secretary, Mrs. Hattie Tiffany; guide, Mrs. Alma Dutton; musician, Mrs. Queen Danner; color bearers, No. 1, Miss Irene Gervais; No. 2, Miss Alda Gervais; No. 3, Miss Hazel Wilson; No. 4, Miss Ruth Ryan; press correspondent, Mrs. Gertrude Griffin.

Mary Jane Gillette Tent has been organized less than two years, and now has fifty-three members. It has been a very active organization and in addition to their regular relief work, in which they are engaged at all times, they are deeply interested in a new venture that has been undertaken quite recently by the department. At the conclusion of the affair home at Sawtelle for the widows and daughters of veterans. Two lots have been purchased and the department is now directing all efforts toward raising funds to build cottages. They report splendid success in crowning their efforts, and the home will soon be an established institution that will fill a long felt want.

Mrs. Medlar, and Mrs. Anderson, who have assisted at Mary Jane Gillette Tent on other occasions, and are held in high esteem by its members, were each the recipient of a lovely gift, of fine hand work, and the other visiting ladies were each presented with a fragrant bouquet of carnations. At the conclusion of the evening all were served with hot coffee and delicious home made cake.

Members of C. of C. Ask for

What are the most important problems to be solved by the Chamber of Commerce here this year? When that question was asked last night at the annual membership meeting, something started in the way of a discussion of the Pacific Electric railroad that is likely to lead into a long fight before the railroad commission.

In the first place, the most pertinent question of the evening was asked by Councilman C. E. Kimlin, who wanted to know if the people of Glendale were satisfied with fare prior to the blanket mileage increase—or did they want it lower still.

This was a logical inquiry, because the belief had been expressed by Dr. Jessie A. Russell that Pacific Electric reports would show the Glendale line to be its best paying road in Southern California.

Four Room Addition for Acacia School Is Approved by Board

Plans for the four-room addition to the Acacia school, submitted by Architect George M. Lindsey, last night were approved by the grammar school board.

The new unit will consist of four class rooms, 24 by 30 feet, and an administrative office. The construction will be hollow tile surfaced with plaster to conform with the present building. The double corridor dividing the present two-room building will be extended east through a roofed arcade and from it on the south the new rooms will open. The entrance will be on Acacia avenue near the median line of the new unit. All of the new rooms will have a southern exposure. Mr. Lindsey was instructed to finish detailed specifications at once.

In order to save time, the board decided to advertise for bids on the individual plans instead of waiting until all of the plans for the new work have been approved. The first advertisement for the Acacia addition will appear in Monday's issue of The Glendale Evening News. Contract will be awarded January 31.

School Desk Prices Draw Forth Protests

Bids for the purchase of seventy-three new school desks and a teacher's desk and chair for the new fifth grade room, to be opened with the new semester at the Doran school, were considered at last night's session of the grammar school board, but some displeasure was expressed at the size and unanimity of the three bids which specified $891.55.

Superintendent Richardson D. White and Dr. P. O. Lucas were appointed to investigate further and place the order.

Mr. White declared that the cheapest desk, listed at $10.75, had sold before the war for $3.75. He considers the increase somewhat exorbitant.

Membership Is Well Pleased
With Work Accomplished
During Past 12 Months

Summing up the membership session of the Chamber of Commerce last night, it was nothing more or less than a vote of confidence. To Europeans that would mean much, but out west in California, U. S. A., your confidence is taken for granted and woe be the man who betrays it.

Rising votes of thanks were given Secretary James M. Rhoades and Assistant Secretary E. F. Sanders for their splendid work. Second Vice President Jesse E. Smith calling attention to this in nicely worded speeches following the reading of the secretary's annual report, a copy of which is in the hands of every member.

"Everything you wanted in the program for last year was taken up and handled as best we could," said Mr. Rhoades in presenting his report. He called attention to the Merchants' Exposition, the Citizens' Building, the Merchants' Credit Association and many other activities for which the Chamber of Commerce was solely responsible, all of them outside of the program.

Mr. Rhoades also laid great stress on two things which the Chamber of Commerce had accomplished.

GLENDALE HIGH SCHOOL CASABA HURLERS LOSE 2 GAMES TO L. A.

Heavyweights, Playing on Outside Court, Badly Walloped; Lightweights Make Better Showing

By HOWARD M'GILLIS, Sporting Editor The Glendale Evening News
Glendale high school's casaba losses suffered yesterday afternoon two ways, when the heavyweights and lightweights traveled to Los Angeles High and lost two fast games.

The unlimiteds, playing on an outside court, on which they had not practiced, were triumphed over by the Los Angeles first team by the lopsided score of 26 to 3; while the lightweights were nosed out by the Pioneer midgets by a count of 20 to 13.

The heavyweights did not quite play up to their standard, due to lack of practice on an outside court, and they were also handicapped by the loss of Willard Goertz, the star forward who is nursing a strained wrist.

In the lightweight contest, which was staged as the preliminary event, the railbirds were furnished with thrill after thrill, the final result being undecided until the last few minutes of play.

Both squads started out evenly, the first half ending with the teams in a nine all deadlock.

In the last period, however, the Blue and White "miniatures" staged a sudden spurt that completely upset the locals.

Lovell, a forward, and Haig, guard, were the outstanding stars for Glendale.

The heavyweight affair ceased to be anything but a landslide after the first five minutes of play.

The Los Angeles forwards completely overwhelmed the locals, the game ending with the above mentioned lopsided score. The Glendale line-up: McManus and Colburn, forwards; Warthman, center; Cline and Ringstad, guards.

The lightweights' line-up was as follows: Lovell and Butts, forwards; Agoston, center; Haig and Bryant, guards.

The locals meet Monrovia Friday, and a hot game is expected.

Elk Bowlers to Meet
All Glendale Elks who are interested in bowling have been summoned by James Apffel, president of the recently completed House League, to be present at a meeting in the club alleys tonight, when plans will be made for the organization of a new league.

In all probability the proposed tournament will be made up of two separate classes, to be selected according to their records made in the initial league.

Following the close of the schedule the winners in each respective division will be brought together in a playoff match to decide the championship of the lodge. Three men teams will be entered, with one regularly appointed substitute, as against five men squads in the House League.

The principal purpose of the proposed league is to stimulate interest in the sport among the lodge members, so that representative teams may be selected in the spring to enter the Southern California Elks' bowling league.

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The victory of Bill Churchill of the San Francisco Olympic club, in the annual cross city race of the San Francisco Bulletin is just another example of the comparatively "old" athlete, who is found from time to time. Churchill has been running a great many years, and that he was good enough to defeat a field of more than seventy starters is just another instance that a long distance runner is better as an old man than a sprinter of the same age.

It is a strange fact that long distance runners usually retain their ability longer than an athlete in any other form of track and field work with the single exception of the big men who put the shot and throw the hammer. There are exceptions, of course, but in the majority of cases one finds long distance men as active contenders for a longer period of years and at an older age than in other lines.

One of the most remarkable instances of longevity of competitive life of distance running men is Sidney Hatch of the Kansas City A. C. He has been competing in full distance Marathon races for more than twenty years and is now more than 40 years of age. A Pacific coast example is Oliver Millard, now retired. Millard did not start actual competition until after he was 27 years of age and he was well over 30 when he ran Hannes Kolehmainen off his legs in the five mile national A. A. U. championship at the exposition grounds in San Francisco in 1915. Probably the oldest man competing on the Pacific coast, is a "youngster" 57 years of age named Isaac Day who annually runs the cross country of seven miles over what is known as the Dipsea trail.

It is seldom, if ever, a sprinter competes for more than a few years after he quits college. In Pete Gerhardt of the Olympic club there was a brilliant example of the "old man" champion sprinter. He was 32 years of age when he went to Stockholm as a member of the American Olympic team. Gerhardt was in active competition in sprints for more than twenty years and won his national championships. Jack Nelson was another nationally recognized sprinter who competed for many years starting with the Seattle A. C. Forest Smithson one time world hurdling champion and Fred Kelly, another world hurdle champion probably competed longer and with more success than any other hurdlers of his age.

In the matter of weight men, age does not make the same rapid deterioration of ability than track work does. Pat McDonald, Pat Ryan, McGrath and others of the big fellows have competed for years and all are round the 50 year mark and are still of championship caliber.

THE WORLD OVER By FRANKLIN B. MORSE PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

At least twenty-five lives of young men were sacrificed during 1921 as the direct result of injuries sustained during athletic competition of one sort or another. There are no means available of ascertaining the exact number but from a careful clipping day by day throughout the year from the reports of fatalities carried in the newspapers, it is possible to arrive at a fair approximation.

Football and boxing appear to be the most deadly of the outdoor sports for the reason that the toll enacted by these two games exceeds that of any other. Then come baseball and horse racing which claim almost the same number of victims.

BOXING
It is likely that the ring claimed in the neighborhood of ten men, allowing for two or three which for one reason or another were not recorded. A glance at the following list will show the manner in which they were overtaken by death.

Kid Russo, a United States soldier boxer, killed at Port Townsend, Wash., as the result of a blow in the fourth round of a bout. He died in a military hospital three days after receiving the blow.

Harry Hamilton, a lightweight, knocked out in the eighth round at Brookfield, Mo., died at his home six or seven hours later.

Herbert Anderson, cadet at the naval academy at Annapolis. Injured on Monday, boxed the following day with the same opponent. Applied for treatment Thursday and Friday. On the latter date an operation was found necessary, and he died Saturday.

Earl Welch sustained a fractured skull when he struck the floor at Columbus, O. It was a friendly bout. Lived two days.

Bonelo Cabanca, claimant of the lightweight championship of the far east, died at Melbourne, Australia, from concussion of the brain.

George Greenburg died in New York City. Was taken out of the ring in the fourth round because of exhaustion and died in a hospital. Henry Estes knocked out in the sixth round at Galveston, Tex., and never recovered consciousness.

FOOTBALL
Of the football players who met death on the gridiron, not one was a member of the many big teams which provide trainers and coaches and see to it that the men are in fit condition to stand up under the demands of a contest.

Frank Nadreau, fireman of the battleship North Dakota, who played on the team representing that ship. Death was due to the rupture of a blood vessel.

Matthew Karyaccich injured about the stomach while playing in a game in which two professional teams were engaged.

Munroe Beatty, a high school lad, killed as a result of injuries inflicted on his spine.

Harry Johnson, 15-year-old high school boy, died as result of concussion of the brain when struck in the head during a scrimmage.

Oliver Winford Perry died at Elmira, N. Y., from what was claimed to have been injuries received in a game played a year before his decease.

JOCKEYS
Frank Porotto died as result of injuries received when his horse got into a jam and fell with his rider at Churchill Downs.

George E. Smith killed at Central West Virginia fair meeting when his mount fell when in the lead. Smith was trampled to death.

"Ruster" Mitchell died of a fractured skull when thrown from his horse at New Orleans.

Cody Martin stepped on and chest crushed after being thrown from his horse in a race. He was dead before assistance reached him.

BASEBALL
George Bender died of heart failure after completing a home run at

Colorado Athletes Defeat Pacific in Contest on Track

'Athletic ability demonstrated by pupils of the third and fourth grades at Colorado school was the feature of Monday afternoon's grammar school track meet.

Despite the fact that the meet was held on the Pacific grounds, Colorado athletes returned home victorious by 14-2-3 points. The total score was 71-1-3 to 62-2-3.

The relay was won by Colorado's quintette; Howard Heck, Frederick Heusman, Solomon Klein and Lawrence Prather.

Third and fourth-class victors were:

Forty-yard dash—Bobbie Morrison, Colorado; Ardell McLaughlin, Colorado; George Rouse, Pacific.

High jump—Bobbie Morrison, Colorado; Harry Vogen, Pacific; Ardell McLaughlin, Colorado.

Broad jump—Harold Foss, Colorado; Paul Heck, Colorado; David Brant, Colorado.

The fifth and sixth grade winners in the junior division were:

Fifty-yard dash—Frank Arnold, Baltimore. He lived only a few minutes after touching the home plate.

John Sloan, a school lad, killed instantly when hit by a foul ball off his own bat.

Steve Gorney, a first baseman, died from a broken neck received in collision with a base runner. He was a member of the Erie City League.

MISCELLANEOUS
E. D. Hawthorne, hockey player, skull fractured when hit in the head during a game played at Toronto. He played out the game and died that night.

Julian E. Kelley, high school athlete of Long Beach, Calif., broke his neck in the fall after having cleared a high jump of five feet.

Those who are prone to decry athletics because of their danger may have some food for reflection that a police report just given out in the city of San Francisco shows that 40 persons were killed in that city alone in automobile accidents, while more than two hundred were injured during the last six months.

Colorado; Robert Steele and Rollin Babcock, Pacific.

Eighty-yard dash—Denny Tatlow, Richard West, Merle Staub, all from Pacific.

Broad jump—Richard West, Pacific; Stanford Gregory, Colorado; Obed Lucas, Pacific.

High jump—Soloman Klein, Colorado; Wallace Clarke and Robert Steele, both from Pacific.

Baseball throw—Denny Tatlow, Pacific; Soloman Klein, Colorado; Merle Staub, Pacific.

Those who distinguished themselves in the senior division of the fifth and sixth grades were:

Sixty-yard dash—Harvard Heck, Colorado; Billy Bogen, Pacific; Lawrence Prathers, Colorado.

Eighty-yard dash—Ralph Gilman and Lanier Martin, both from Pacific; Donald Marshall, Colorado.

Broad jump—Lanier Martin and Frank Galbraith, Pacific; George Hall, Colorado.

High jump—Frank Galbraith, Pacific; George Hall, Colorado; Dwight Pierce and Robert Steele, Pacific; Laurence Prathers, Colorado.

Soccer kick—Norman Girard, Colorado; Lyman Bosserman, Pacific; Herman Nelson, Colorado.

Winners in the special class or those over 5 feet seven inches in height were:

Seventy-yard dash—Howard Heck, Colorado; Donald Hamilton, Colorado; Delvin Mitchell, Pacific.

Broad jump—Robert Heck, Roy Stigle and Donald Hamilton, all from Colorado.

Permission to use the southwest was quite seriously injured while on formerly educational director of Jacoby Brothers' store in Los Angeles, told stories at the Chamber of Commerce directors' luncheon yesterday to the delight of the board and members of the civic and advertising committees. Being an Englishman, he has a line of droll humor that more than pleased.

The committees were introduced and several matters of routine business were quickly disposed of.
Richardson D. White reported that his committee on auto parks were agreed that Will M. Robertson's plans for a tourist camp ground west of this city along the Southern Pacific

munity and have Brand boulevard

ing problems and plan for the park swimming pool in the northwest section of the city.

Mrs. Russell could have gone into detail and told what her committee already has done, but suffice to say she promises action rather than words.

Mrs. Mabel L. Tight was another woman member who had a suggestion to make and that is the elimination of the steam freight line owned by the Union Pacific which traverses Glendale avenue.

Boulevard in Wash

Peter L. Ferry, a director of the Chamber, presented his idea of boulevarding the Verdugo wash as a flood control problem to be overcome. A referendum will be sent the voters to get the greatest number of ideas for Chamber activities, the secretary announced, and after they are called to a few feasible propositions the program will be formulated for the membership's approval.

In Mr. Rhoades' report street opening, an auditorium, city parks, flood control and the lowering the Pacific Electric tracks are urged as paramount. It is fitting, indeed, to close this article with the membership motto:

"I will not criticize or condemn the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for failure to get results unless I myself have personally given time, thought and effort to help get results."

Senate Leaders in Move to Put Stop to Filibustering

WASHINGTON — Senate leaders have begun a movement to break through one of the oldest traditions of that august body—the right to talk "until the cows come home."
The rules governing cloture will be amended if possible, to end the fili-bustering which has blocked legislation so effectively in the past. The judiciary committee of the Senate has approved an amendment to the rules limiting debate on any question whenever a majority of the Senate desires such limitation.

This effort to abridge the sovereign prerogative of the legislators in the Upper House of Congress is certain to meet with very determined opposition from members of both the Democratic and Republican parties.
The minority groups will oppose this radical innovation in a vigorous manner.

The movement to limit debate arose as a result of the complaints majority leaders in the Senate that they could not get laws passed owing to lengthy speeches of members opposing the measures. The Senate is far behind the House in the matter of actual accomplishment as a result of the rule under which one Senator can relieve another at speechmaking, thus dragging out a filibuster for several weeks.

Just now dozens of bills passed by the House are held up in the Senate because Senators can't find time to wear out that body in discussion upon them. Some of the administration's pet bills are included in this number.

Under the present rules it takes a two-thirds majority to declare a cloture whereby debate is limited and a vote on the question forced. Cloture, however, seldom is applied, for the minority party rarely will agree to it.

The proposed cloture rule would permit a majority vote to apply the cloture on petition of twenty-four Senators. To pass the new rule requires a two-thirds majority, and therein Republican leaders find a great obstacle.

The Democratic party, ever since the memorable filibuster of John Sharp Williams in the House many years ago prevented the South from losing what it considered the sovereign right of self-government under a proposed amendment, has been irrevocably opposed to the cloture.

Added to this opposition is that of a few Republican Senators like Borah, La Follette, Norris and one or two others, who frequently have occasion to take the floor against the entire Senate in the interests of the country.

Nevertheless, the Republican leaders are determined to end the present system, whereby one or two freelance Senators can hold up the entire Senate.

Commerce did not do to their credit, both financial and otherwise. It did not participate in Burbank's Fourth of July celebration after a thorough investigation and it withdrew from the San Fernando Valley fair on the eve of the greatest financial failure ever registered by a similar event.

"Trade at Home," "get behind your city council," "fight the Pacific Electric in the matter of increased rates"—these were a few of the ideas driven home by Mr.
Rhoades. At the conclusion of his speech, L. H. Wilson moved that the annual report be referred to the auditing committee and that a public accountant certify as to its accuracy.

After the votes of thanks, both
Mr. Rhoades and Mr. Sanders replied in appreciative terms, the latter saying, "We ask you to unite with us in 1922 to solve much greater problems and we will make this one of the greatest cities of its size in the United States."

Program on February 2
Mr. Sanders announced the opening program for the Chamber on Thursday night, February 2, in the assembly hall where last night's session was held. Mr. Rhoades called attention to the Forum meeting which will be held at noon on the first Thursday, commencing in February.

V. M. Hollister, newly elected president, displayed his ability as master of ceremonies over a meeting which was fraught with more or less excitement, on account of suggestions for the year's program—which will be found in another column.

Survivors of Arctic Trip Tell Thrilling Story of Hardships

EDINBURGH—A thrilling story of one of the survivors of the Stefansson Arctic expedition of 1913 was recently unfolded in the Court of Sessions at Edinburgh in connection with a petition to presume the death of its surgeon, Dr. Alister Forbes Mackay of Edinburgh.

W. McKinlay, the magnetician, stated that in July, 1913, the northern party of the expedition sailed from Nome, Alaska, on the Karluk for Herschel Island.

In August the Karluk was caught in the ice floes. She drifted with the ice, and during the following winter she was carried across the Arctic ocean.

In the following January the vessel was crushed by the ice pack and sunk sixty miles north of Herald Island. At that time the sun had not appeared above the horizon, and the absence of light made traveling on the ice difficult and hazardous.

The majority of the members determined to camp on the ice floes until the sun reappeared, but on February 5 Dr. Mackay, with three others, took provisions and supplies and set out to make for land.

Seen two days later by other members, Dr. Mackay did not appear to be in good condition, but he and his companions refused all offers of assistance and transportation back to the main camp.

Dr. Mackay and his companions were never seen or heard of again, though four relief vessels were sent out.

Lord Ashmore held that the reasonable inference was that Dr. Mackay died on or about February 14, 1917.

Mule Lost, Mule Found; Question of Weight

Otto R. Benedict of 342 South pounds had strayed away from his

The police department found a black mule weighing 850 pounds

Now the question is: Did Ben-

DISCUSS IDEAS FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL WITH ARCHITECT

Question of Auditorium In First Unit Is Taken Up
Briefly by Trustees

The first architect to receive consideration by the Glendale Union high school board made his appearance last night in the person of Mott M. Marston, resident of Eagle Rock, with offices at 545 E. W. Heilmann building, Los Angeles.

Mr. Marston was connected with the city architect's office in San Francisco immediately after the earthquake and had considerable to do with school designing at that time.
For a period he was employed by the Los Angeles board of trustees as superintendent of construction. He has designed schools at Montebello, Las Vegas, Tustin, Moor Park and Cam-el-reo.

Mr. Marston agreed with the board that the logical thing to do is to lay out a comprehensive plan which will cover future as well as present building. The question as to whether or not the first unit should have an auditorium was discussed slightly.

Propose Large Auditorium
Dan Campbell declared that the auditorium must be large enough to accommodate 250 students.
Mrs. Blanche Gardner of Eagle
Rock suggested that it might be possible to use the auditorium for some other purposes. No decision was reached.

Mr. Marston stated that his fee would be the regularly recognized 6 per cent of the cost of construction.
O. L. Leggett, 1122 East Wilson avenue, last night appeared before the high school board of trustees seeking information in regard to the proposed new street between Colorado avenue and Broadway at the eastern boundary of the new high school site.

Mr. Leggett stated that he wished to subdivide some acreage adjoining this location. The board decided to employ a civil engineer at once to make an official survey.

Capitol Building Is Bootleggers' Paradise

WASHINGTON — A greater amount of bootlegging is carried on within the shadow of the majestic Capitol building, from whence emanated the Volstead law, than any other section of the nation's capital, judging from the number of arrests made in November.

Bootleggers and other violators of the Volstead law numbering 125 were arrested in November, according to local police records, a majority of whom were apprehended in territory adjacent to the Capitol.

Despite the fact that Washington is the birthplace of the Volstead law, and that headquarters of various societies and organizations aiding the cause of prohibition are located here, bootlegging in the nation's capital is quite a thriving business, as attested by the fact that in November the police made raids that netted them 684 quarts of whiskey, fifty-six quarts of gin, fifty quarts of alcohol, six barrels of cider, seventy-two bottles of peach extract, 531 gallons of mash, twenty-six quarts of home-brew, two stills, thirteen quarts of cognac, 133 quarts of wine of Jamaica ginger, 1,447 gallons of wine, 502 bottles of Abbott's bitters, sixty bottles of various extracts, an automobile and three wine presses.

Letts Negotiate for Foreign Concessions

LONDON—A Copenhagen report says that the Lettonian government is in negotiation with the Dutch, French, English, American and German Consortiums respecting railway, harbor and factory concessions in Duenaburg and Riga. The concessions are to be for twenty years, and the Lettonian government is to hold certain shares.
It is stated that factories in Lettonia hold several large Russian orders, but lack the necessary capital to execute them.

FARM BLOC HALTS REPUBLICANS IN PARTY PROGRAM

Group Action Is Cause of Some Hearty Arguments in the Senate and House

By J. E. JONES
Special to The Glendale Evening News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—The Republicans have a party program that they are very anxious to put through Congress, and it would seem that with comfortable majorities in both Houses that there ought to be no trouble about passing any kind of a law that has the "ok" of the Republican leaders. But some one has thrown a monkey-wrench into the party machinery, and there is no need to look far for the perpetrator of the act—because the farm bloc admits its full guilt. The farm bloc is made up principally of Republican Senators and Representatives, and every one of them will tell you that they are eager to carry out their party program. The unfortunate part of their position, from the standpoint of the president, who has scolded mildly, and in the opinion of Secretary of War Weeks who has denounced them for what he terms unwise "group action," is that the farm bloc has very definite ideas about what kind of programs should be made for the Republican party. In one sense they are like the old-time groups that were called "insurgents" and "progressives." All the survivors of those factions are in the farm bloc. But the farm bloc insists that it is regular to the "stealth degree." All it wants is a "program"—the particular kind of a program that is just like it wants! And if the Republican managers have any different kinds of suggestions to make, then the farm bloc simply reserves the right to revise those suggestions. Like Patrick Henry of old, they assert that they are entirely loyal, and when other Republicans cry "treason," they coldly reply: "If this be treason, make the most of it."

But Changes Come
In the days when party lines were tight the constituted leaders used to drive the members of such organizations as the farm bloc out of their party. But there have been great changes, and to the desultory talk of such procedure the farm bloc says it will give a hearty welcome. The farm bloc is worrying the G. O. P., but the party is not inclined to break with its members. But the G. O. P. is worried, because it realizes that it can not make a party program without consulting the wishes of the farm bloc. This means "compromises," and that is the thing the old guard hates—but it is something that has always been done, and always will be done, by the managers of the destinies of political parties. Some of the provisions of the tax bill were dictated by the farm bloc, and in that legislation the bloc showed that no party program can get through Congress that does not have its support. Senator Kenyon of Iowa is the recognized head of the farm bloc, and he is supported by Senator Capper of Kansas, and a great many of the Republican leaders in both Houses from the middle west and far west. The farm bloc does not represent a "split" in the Republican party. On the contrary, it is a new "power."

Defends Farm Bloc
While the president and Secretary Weeks have disapproved of some of the methods of the farm bloc it is very interesting to follow the course of Secretary Wallace, head of the Department of Agriculture, who has rallied to the support of the legislation approved by the farm bloc. "That anyone should be disposed to regard such legislation as of the nature of class legislation, intended to or having the effect of benefiting one group at the expense of other groups, is surprising," he declares. "It is not in any sense class legislation," he continues. "Our first task is to bring agriculture through this critical period with the least possible damage. Senators and Representatives from the surplus-producing states appreciate the gravity of the situation, as, indeed, do hundreds of thousands of business men who have dealings with the farmer directly or indirectly. It is quite natural, therefore, that there should be consideration of legislation matters which might afford relief." This statement from Secretary Wallace indicates that he is helping to line up with the middle west where the farmers' interests are considered first of all. It is suggested that the geographical location of New England may have some effect upon the contravention views of Secretary Weeks.

Accept Challenge
But—Secretary Wallace goes farther, and he accepts the challenge of those who are opposing specialization in farm legislation, by saying: "If those who have been charged with promoting unwise class or group legislation for the benefit of agriculture should desire to retort in kind, they could find ready at hand many examples of unquestionable class legislation enacted in behalf of relatively small groups."

What Secretary Wallace has said is not different from what others have been saying in and out of Congress, but it shows that the agricultural bloc is determined to either construct every desired piece of legislation affecting agriculture, or to exercise the power of vetoing in Congress the acts constituting the Republican program that do not come within the scope of its convictions. There is a good deal of talk about the tariff law just now, and speculation as to when it will become a law. The farm bloc has this particular piece of legislation in its fist, and the possibilities are that before spring the country will have presented to it a regular "farm-bloc-tariff-law."

Makes Suggestions
on Industrial Zone,
San Fernando Road

An owner of some vacant property on the east side of the San Fernando road, in discussion with a representative of The Evening News, says that he favors an industrial zone all along that thoroughfare. Also, he said that another route to Burbank is badly needed. He declared:

"I have been much interested in the articles published in The Evening News regarding the zoning system, particularly the apparent inclination to eliminate industries from Glendale and I think it would be only fair and proper to turn the spotlight on the problem and call attention to all advantages and disadvantages to result from the proposed ordinance."

"This is too serious a problem to decide on hastily and any decision finally arrived at should be made subject to changes (which may seem advisable to make later on) without any great difficulty. There are some points which have not been discussed and I believe that the viewpoint of a majority of the people is different than any ideas expressed. Unfortunately people of limited means are seldom heard in discussion of some of these problems in which they are vitally interested."

"I am interested particularly in the industrial zone. I own some vacant property on the east side of the San Fernando road and cannot see why there should be any serious objection to an industrial zone extending along the east side of the road as well as the west. Why not leave that territory all along the San Fernando road open to industries? It is the ideal location for them, along the Southern Pacific railroad and part way the Pacific Electric railroad tracks, the paved highway and the natural gas mains. Most industries require fuel and switch tracks. Here we have ideal locations and conditions but, on account of no earnest effort ever having been made to secure industries, no progress has been made. Glendale has developed wonderfully as a residential city, a real home town, but has practically no industries to support the population. The income which supports the town must come from outside."

Increases Employment
"The rapidly increasing population brings in large amounts of money and the principal business in comes, have been from increase in value of property. When the city becomes built up and the increase in population and increase in value of property is very much less rapid than at present (which is inevitable) where will the income come from to support all this population? Some are retired and have incomes from the east or north or from investments, etc., but a majority of our people must work for a living, and go many miles daily to nearest places of business or employment. Would it not be better to have employment near home? A row of industries along both sides of San Fernando road might easily employ enough people to require homes at every vacant lot in Glendale and all the present population who desired employment in nearby industries."

"The property along San Fernando road cannot be considered high class residence property. It may be an unpleasant evening, but it might as well make the best of it. San Fernando is no longer a boulevard; it is a heavy truck line, the congested and heavy traffic and the noise from it and the railroad, make nearby property valuable only for industries and business."

The more industries located along the road, the better chances to sell lots or homes near them because many people find it necessary to live nearby their place of business and most employees like to live conveniently near to place of employment to save carfare or gasoline and tires. The increasing cost of carfare to Los Angeles, also difficulty of finding parking space near places of employment near home makes employment near home more desirable. Industries along the east side of San Fernando road would not lower the value of property nearby, but would increase the value clear back to the mountains.

"It seems to me that the decision all depends on the question, whether Glendale wants industries or prefers to be a quiet residential suburb. Let us hear from some of the 1300 families who have purchased homes on monthly payment plan recently, and the real estate men who sold to them."

"Another route to Burbank is badly needed to take part of the lighter traffic off the San Fernando road and would help more to develop the district than anything else."

You Will Get a Chill

Brrr!
King Winter holds sway at the southeast corner of Kenwood street and Broadway.

Glistening banks of drifted snow are piled to the eaves of the houses. Telephone poles doubled like jackknives in the blizzard lie dangling across the road.

From the wires above hang dripping icicles. On the frozen street Jack Frost and Kid Zero are playing leapfrog to keep warm.

All this in Glendale?

Sure, but in newspaper pictures depicting December storms at Mr. and Mrs. George A. Whittaker's old home at Worcester, Massachusetts and on display at the Broadway Pharmacy.

The case was laid over for Mr. Teschon for further consideration. Mr. Teschon was arrested early Monday afternoon while he was attempting to repair a motorcycle near Colorado avenue and Brand boulevard.

BIG FIVE DISCUSS MAIN POINTS OF NAVAL TREATY

Number of Details Changed as Result of Conference;
Parley Being Delayed

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—Difficulties in the adjustment of the five powered naval treaty and more particularly in connection with the far east side of the armament conference, have arisen in such numbers as to make it virtually certain that the parley will continue well towards the end of January, it was learned.

Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, who had planned to sail for England on Saturday, has cancelled his passage and will remain in Washington another ten days at least.

Behind the closed doors of the Pan-American building, where so many momentous decisions have been reached in the last two months, the big five began final consideration of the naval treaty, which will set the limitations in ships, guns and building until 1927.

They Are Saving Wood
After nearly three hours discussion of details in the naval treaty, the heads of the five naval powers adjourned last night shortly before 6 o'clock without having completed their work.

"We are saving wood," said an American who added that a good deal of ground remained to be covered.

The heads of the five delegations met again this morning at 11 o'clock. In its essential features—the first ratios and the ten-year building holiday—the treaty is understood to remain unchanged from the lines originally laid down, but in the supporting provisions there have been details inserted that are of vital concern to the signatory powers. How many of these will be knocked out in the final diplomatic bartering or how many others will be added before the treaty text reaches the public, remains to be seen. It is accepted, however, that the treaty will be unchanged in its keystone provisions.

Supporting Provisions
Chief among the supporting provisions of the new pact, as it was taken up, are understood to be the following:

First—Any of the signatory powers can renounce the treaty upon giving due notice to the other powers. The treaty is understood to be a permanent one, but it is possible that it may be subject to revision by the limitations agreed upon here.

Second—The treaty will be subject to revision by the signatory powers. The treaty will be subject to revision by the signatory powers. The treaty will be subject to revision by the signatory powers.

Third—The life of the treaty will be fifteen years, or until 1937. Although the treaty is understood to be subject to revision, it is not to start until 1937.

Fourth—The treaty will be subject to revision by the signatory powers. The treaty will be subject to revision by the signatory powers. The treaty will be subject to revision by the signatory powers.

Fifth—Guns on merchant ships will be limited to six inches and merchant vessels will be so constructed as to not be capable of mounting guns of greater calibre.

Sixth—None of the signatory powers may build for other governments, whether in or out of the treaty, ships exceeding in tonnage or armament the figures laid down in the treaty.

To Keep Workers Busy
A special provision was designed to overcome many objections that shipyards and ship workers were doomed to idleness under the cessation of building originally proposed. The nations now can keep their yards and workers busy if they can get the business and at the same time the treaty powers can rest content that no outside nation is building greater ships than they themselves possess.

There are numerous other contributory provisions, but these are the principal ones. The treaty is extremely lengthy in its present form and it is considered probable that it will be amended and changed in many places before signatures are attached.

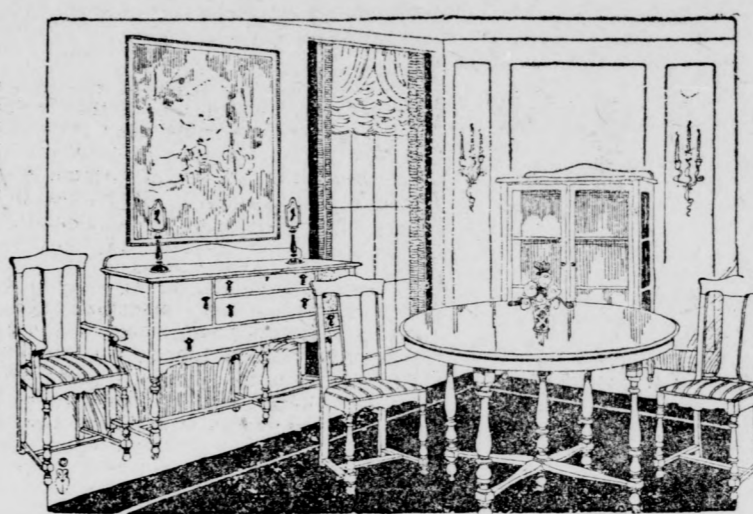

It was hoped that today will be sufficient to meet all objections and questions and a plenary session could be called for Thursday to make the treaty public.

Both British and Japanese delegations now plan to leave during the last week in January, the British sailing from New York and the Japanese from San Francisco.

The explanation offered for the change of plans was that the details that remain to be adjusted are too numerous for quick settlement. One of them is that portion of the five power naval treaty dealing with Pacific fortifications.

Jack T. Millan Is Treasurer Candidate

Jack T. Millan, tax collector of the city of San Diego and known to a number of Glendale residents through his visits here, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, according to an International News Service dispatch to The Glendale Evening News. He seeks to succeed Friend W. Richardson, who will be a candidate for governor. Millan has served in his present capacity since 1919. He formerly resided in San Francisco and is well known in state Republican circles.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

A Minimum Marrying Age
Study the Sewer Situation
Lower Fares and Tracks
Science Is Far Reaching

By Gil A. Cowan

A MINIMUM age on marriages! No longer can the cradle be robbed! Think of the hundreds of weddings now that will never occur! Terrible, isn't it?

Now it is said that a "lost law" has been dug up which became effective last August. It makes illegal any marriages of females under 16 and males under 18, regardless of their parents' consent.

Truth of the matter is, that this is another fool law, principally because it affects young fools. If those who marry when they're way under age waited until somebody said "go ahead," there is every reason to believe no one would want them then.

It may be safely ventured that more happy marriages result from wedding young and repenting at leisure than marrying later in life and trying to hasten separation. Look at the cuckoo nests in your neighborhood, and after you have observed their foolish antics like trying to make a garden, raise a family on $22.50 or less a week, etc., wander over to the wise old owl's house and see how they are faring.

Then determine at what age people should marry.

Now is the time for all students of civics to get busy and come to the aid of their city. After practicing that on the typewriter 100 times this morning, I decided there was another clause should be added to the copy-book sentence so that it will read:

"Now is the time for all students of civics to get busy and come to the aid of their city in solving the sewage problem."

It is useless to discuss the merits of any tentative program, now in hand, because that would begot the issue finally. But it will be in order for all to know what they are talking about when a sewer system is discussed.

At a meeting the other night several experienced plumbers had a hard time realizing that septic tanks could be circular shaped as well as square cornered.

Another civic problem which is going to get concentrated attention within the next few weeks is the lowering of Pacific Electric tracks on Brand boulevard between Colorado and Windsor Road.

The Brand Boulevard Improvement association wants the "main drag" into the city of Glendale paved. So does the city council. So does the Chamber of Commerce. So does everybody else who has expressed an opinion.

Looks as though the Pacific Electric faces the problem of not only lowering its fares on the Glendale line, but lowering its tracks as well if it is humanly possible for a group of determined people to obtain these concessions.

Science is one of the most far-reaching of men's activities. Read the following dispatch from Berkeley received over the International News Service Lease Wire this morning:

"Under the leadership of Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of Lick Observatory, a group of University of California scientists will go to 'Ninety Mile beach,' Australia, to take astronomical observations during the total eclipse of the sun, September 21, 1922, which will test the validity of the Einstein theory of relativity, it was announced today. The 'Ninety Mile beach' has hitherto been considered inaccessible, but the Australian government will place a special vessel at the disposal of the scientists for the landing. To make preliminary observations Dr. R. J. Trumpler will sail March 31, while the main expedition will go July 18."

Fresh eggs are selling in Chicago today at 39 and 40 cents a dozen, says another dispatch. A week ago the price was 53 cents a dozen. Storage eggs are selling as low as 29 cents a dozen in many stores.

This sharp decline came as a result of the seizure by storage houses of 200,000 cases of eggs held by speculators who had failed to meet margin and storage charges. Six million dozen eggs, it was claimed, were dumped on the market. According to estimates of traders, $900,000 was lost by speculators.

Ohio Woman's Shape Stolen, Is Confession

ELYRIA, Ohio.—That a man taxi driver "swiped" her shape is the admission made to local police by Mrs. I. C. Peabody, Oberlin society leader. Mrs. Peabody said she engaged a taxi driver to go to the home of her daughter here. After reaching the destination the driver informed her he would return in a few minutes after making another call. Accordingly, Mrs. Peabody consented to leave her handbag in the auto.

The taxi and driver never returned. Reporting the matter to the police, Mrs. Peabody said the handbag, in possession of the man taxi driver, contained her corset.

She asked the officers to aid in getting back her form.

Colored Dry Agent Has Tough Position

CRAIG, Colo.—Facing blizzards in the snow-covered Rocky Mountains and tracking down moonshiners and bootleggers on skis is the exhilarating pastime of Dale Hunt, Federal prohibition enforcement officer in this territory. It is estimated Hunt has traveled several hundred miles on skis and snowshoes in an effort to make Northwestern Colorado bone dry.

RAIN COST $15,000 TO CONTRACTORS AT LA CANADA

Materials and Time Go in Heavy Storm; Downpour
Totals 22 Inches

McCray Brothers, a contracting firm, lost $15,000 in time and material in a grading job on Haskell street, La Canada, during the recent rainstorms. Their work was practically undone by the flood of water, the downpour totaling 22 inches to date. This is a record rainfall, according to old residents of La Canada.

To Install Lumber Yard

E. F. Hessler of The Independent Lumber company, Glendale, announces that his firm has purchased a tract of ground in the business center of Tujunga and they will immediately install a lumber yard sufficient to meet the demands of that community. The Independent company also has a yard at Marion in the San Fernando valley.

Provides Lots of Water

The Valley Water company at La Canada has completed the installation of a pumping plant which will deliver 900 gallons of water a minute. This new unit will deliver 5,000,000 cubic feet of water to valley homes and irrigators every month, an unprecedented supply, according to F. D. Lanterman who is actively interested in the development of his home section.

Visualize Railway Plans

Will the gravel pits of La Crescenta lure the Union Pacific into electrifying its own line and buying the Glendale & Montrose system? That is the question La Crescenta boosters are propounding with very just reason, too. There are rumors that if the Union Pacific ever makes such a move it will not stop until it reaches Tujunga. However, no official statement has indicated that such a plan even is considered.

Many Sales at Flintridge

More than 200 lots have been sold in the Flintridge vicinity of La Canada valley in the last month and the number of new homes has made necessary $30,000 improvements by the Valley Water company.

PRISONER LEAVES COURT

KENNETT, Mo.—Riley Torrence has "city slicked" the Circuit Court. While a jury was deliberating on evidence seeking to show that he peddled "white mule" Torrence walked out of the courtroom. Court officials thought he was accompanied by an officer, but when the jury assessed Torrence's punishment at six months' imprisonment and a $200 fine the man had disappeared.

Today's World News In Brief

(By International News Service to Glendale Evening News)

$11,000,000,000 foreign indebtedness pay the bonus, and the result will be, it was said today, that the legislation will be held up until a republican conference can be arranged to bring about a reconciliation of divergent views.

PASADENA MAN IS ARRESTED IN $15,000 BANK ROBBERY

PASADENA, Jan. 11.—Alleged to have been one of two bandits who last October held up a Pasadena bank messenger and robbed him of $15,000, Fred A. DEMOCRATS ABANDON PLAN IN NEWBERRY INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Abandonment of the democratic plan to move for the recommitment of the case of Senator Truman H. Newberry to the senate committee which investigated the expenditure of "about $195,000" in his campaign was announced today by Senator Hitchcock, democrat, of Nebraska, the acting leader of the senate. WOMEN MAY AGAIN BE ON ROSCOE ARBUCKLE JURY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—There was every indication today as the task of getting a jury to try Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle for a second time for manslaughter was undertaken in superior court that women will be well represented among the twelve "peers" chosen to hear the evidence. There are fifteen women in the panel of sixty-five jurors summoned by Judge Louderback for duty today, eight of them married and seven single. It was announced as court convened that nineteen of the sixty-five prospective jurors summoned for today had been excused because of previous jury duty. Five women were among those excused. This left forty-six in the panel.

Professional Hobo
Fast Disappearing

SAN FRANCISCO—The old-time professional hobo is disappearing. A new generation, ranging from twenty to thirty years of age has taken his place—but the new generation lacks the finesse at the art of hoboeing that was distinctive of the old-time.

"The old-time hobo is disappearing, giving place to a younger generation," said Dan O'Connell, chief special agent for the largest railroad operating in the west, under whose direction no less than 20,634 hoboes were put off trains on the railroad's system during the month of October alone.

"The number of hoboes this year is greater than during any previous period in the company's history," said O'Connell.

"The majority of those beating their way on our trains are young men. Most of them are under thirty years of age, and many are in their early twenties."

"The old timers, with their blanket-rolls, are found more infrequently. The newcomers in this class are not so wise to the ways of hoboeing, and many lives are lost."

"The percentage of fatalities to injuries is much greater in the case of persons beating their way on trains than in the case of accidents to railroad employees," according to R. J. Clancy, a railroad official in charge of safety work. "The practice of stealing rides is highly dangerous, and the danger is not generally appreciated. If such trespassers meet with accidents the chances are that they will be killed, or maimed for life."

How good it feels. Your head is clear. Your nostrils are open. You breathe freely. No more hawking or snuffling. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up, choked up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Advertisement.

REAL OPPORTUNITY IS OFFERED BY NIGHT SCHOOL
Instructors Tell of Great Many Chances Being Presented to Students Here

Opportunities offered by the night classes at the high school were discussed again last night at an assembly.

Morgan Smith, who has charge of the machine shop declared that the opportunities were not fully appreciated because, as a member of the night faculty of the Los Angeles Polytechnic high school, he happened to know that most of their classes there had large waiting lists while a student might get exactly as good instruction here merely by enrolling.

He commented upon the fine equipment in the high school shop and the investment it represented to the district. Mr. Smith declared night school students had the opportunity to prepare for practical shop conditions because of the fact they had an instructor on hand to answer questions.

Big Help to Student
Fullen Preston, teacher of penmanship and bookkeeping, declared that he never knew anyone to regret a course in bookkeeping. He said that, while the course would not fit a student to become a certified public accountant, it was a stepping stone and should enable a student to go into a business house around here and keep an ordinary set of books intelligently. He said that the amount of knowledge to be learned through bookkeeping was almost unlimited. Mr. Preston stated members of his classes had been reporting regularly in spite of inclement weather.

Bert Rolfe, who has charge of the auto shop, kept the audience in laughter during his brief talk. He declared that none of the other instructors had dared to make guarantees in regard to their classes but that he would guarantee—a student would have his hands dirty in five minutes. He said several of the night school students were learning how to perform minor and major operations upon their own cars.

Wear Results of Work
Miss Wilhelmina Hobush, teacher of millinery, asserted that an attempt would be made to combine both classes of millinery in order that a class in dressmaking might be started soon. She called attention to the fact that students were wearing home the results of their work.

Walter Gorman, instructor of woodworking, reminded those present that a knowledge of carpentering was most important because almost everybody lived in a house. His classes are divided into three sections, carpentry, finishing work, and cabinet making. Mr. Gorman invited new students to enroll and continue their work where they desired.

A. L. Ferguson, principal of the night school, again spoke of the necessity for regular attendance and urged those present to advise their friends of the opportunities.

JACKIE COOGAN IN "MY BOY" SHOWN AT T. D. & L.

Little Star Gives Enjoyable Presentation of Pleasing Story to Big Crowds

Pictures come and pictures go—some are remembered, and some are quickly forgotten. Of "My Boy," the Jackie Coogan picture which opened at the T. D. & L. Theatre yesterday, must be said "it will long be remembered, and as one of the best pictures ever seen here."

Crowded houses marked the opening day's showing and no doubt the same will be found to be the order for today and tomorrow. Many people were turned away. To tell the story of "My Boy" would be to spoil too good a treat that lies in store for those who have not yet seen it.

Lots of Entertainment
All have found real enjoyment and lots of entertainment in the story's well spent for the entire family. "The White Mouse," featuring Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery and Ethel Grey Terry forms an interesting story of the northwest mounted police. "The Adviser," with Lloyd Hamilton, the comedian, is a laugh-provoking comedy that brought down the house numerous times. Musical numbers by George Olsene were received with much genuine and appreciative applause.

GLENDALE FIFTH IN BUILDING DURING YEAR OF 1921

Remarkable Record Made by This City in Comparison With Other Communities

Glendale ranks fifth among the cities of the southwest reporting building permits totaling more than $100,000 during 1921, according to the Southwest Builder and Contractor. The following table, showing approximately $150,000,000 in construction work, tells louder than adjectives the story of Glendale's rapid step into a class with San Diego and Pasadena:

Nearby Towns Prosperous
Adjacent communities such as Burbank and Eagle Rock also show a comparatively great growth, being in the millionaire class with Bakersfield, San Bernardino and other more populous places.
But few of the southern California cities failed to show a gain which is indicative of the prosperity prevalent here. Hermosa Beach leads the list in its percentage of increase—nearly 400 per cent. El Segundo, the Standard Oil City, was set back 50 per cent, however, and Redlands took a greater slump.

To Make Close Study of Eskimos' Skeletons

HALIFAX, N. S.—Thirty-three skeletons of Eskimos from the Mackenzie river area have arrived to be sent to Dalhousie University, where they will be measured and studied for the Canadian government by Dr. John Cameron.

The skeletons were collected by the Arctic exploration expedition sent out by the government which has spent five years in the north studying the habits, language and characteristics of the Eskimo tribes. They represent the Eskimo tribes inhabiting Herschel Island and the coastal region between Point Barrow and Coronation Gulf. This is north of the Indian country. Eskimos are the only inhabitants except for the few white men at infrequent posts of the Hudson's Bay company.

Dr. Cameron estimates that three years will be required to complete the examination of the skeletons and make the thousands of measurements necessary in the interests of science.
The exact ethnological status of the Eskimos, it is believed, will be determined. Anthropologists agree they are of Asiatic origin. Eskimos are constantly travelling between the two continents, walking on the ice across Behring Straits in winter and paddling across in their bidarkas in summer. They are not close ethnologic kin to the North American Indians, if kin at all, and this exhaustive investigation may determine their closest racial affinities.

The result of the survey will be embodied in a volume by Dr. Cameron. A special study on the teeth will be made by Dr. S. G. Ritchie, of Halifax.

FIFTY YEARS A JANITOR

WELLINGTON—L. C. Ledyard will conclude fifty years of continuous service as janitor of school buildings, opera house, Home Savings Bank, Reserve building, Herriek library and First Wellington Bank on December 23, when he will be accorded a municipal reception and banquet.

LECTURER ASSERTS SOLAR MAGNETICS CONTROLS ALL

Cause of Growth, Unrest and More Work and Thought, So Speaker Declares

tering the August section of great months, or Aquarius, having just passed through the Pliocene or "dark age." If 1881 was the beginning of the passing from the Pliocene to the Aquarius age, and it takes seventy years to pass from one to the other, it will be seen that we are only half way over.

Much More Accomplished
"There are four elements, fire or vitality, earth, air and water. The element of Aquarius is air, which is the most uplifting of the four and produces the greatest activity. The past age was vastly slower and was of the element of water, and just as humanity mastered traveling upon the water so is it mastering air travel. The actual magnetic currents of the atmosphere are more rapid than ten years ago and with this increased stimulant so much more is accomplished.

"At the present time the planets are in a very unusual position. The two largest planets in this solar system, Jupiter and Saturn, have not been in their present position together since 1863 and will not be again until 1980 or 81. It is a particularly and unusual mentally stimulating time.

"During the year of October, 1921 to 1922 there will be undoubtedly more than twice the amount of thought and study and twice as much more will be accomplished with the same amount of effort. It is one of the biggest years that we will have in some length of time.

"Scientists everywhere recognize the fact that magnetic currents from the sun are responsible for every thing passing. Radium is merely so much concentrated magnetic current or sunlight. By studying solar magnetism very much that is valuable will be learned along every line of life and it will help to make a person a happier and more efficient individual."

Several Local Players Appear in Cast; 'Partners of Tide' Regular Picture

"A Colorado Knight," a five-reel feature comedy produced by Paragon, will be previewed at the Glendale Theatre tonight at 9 o'clock in connection with the regular program and it is expected that the several well-known local stars who will be in attendance will have a host of friends present to see this extraordinary photoplay which begins in Colorado and ends happily in Colorado.

Gail Henry, a comedy star in her own name and one of Glendale's most talented daughters, is among the feminine leads while Lillian Biron, who starred with Jimmie Adams at the Astra studio here, also will be seen to good advantage. Others prominent in the cast are Jack Richardson, Helen Darling, Eddie Barry, Spottiswood Aitken, Joe Singleton and Nelson McDowell.

Thrilling Production
"Partners of the Tide" is the regular feature playing today and tomorrow and is numbered among the screen successes of the year.

It is a thrilling production with many "big moments" and with a love-theme of singular tenderness and appeal interwoven into a fabric of extraordinary interesting events.

Director Irvin V. Willat—who is also a producer—has succeeded admirably in catching the very spirit of Joseph C. Lincoln's novel, from which the picture was adapted.

A well-balanced cast does full justice to the many opportunities given them. Special mention must be made of Jack Perrin, Daisy Robinson and Gordon Mullen as the hero, the heroine and the villain respectively. Surely this is a satisfying show for Glendale theatre-goers.
